Board of Health Report.

The annual report of the state board of health for the year ending December 31, 1907, has been issued and contains some interesting material.

With reference to divorces the board says: "The number of divorces is increasing to such an extent as threatens the stability of the state." In 1886 the number of divorces to the number of marriages was one in 20.3, in 1897 it was one divorce in every 12.5, and in 1907 one in every 8.52. The report says: "At this rate in the increase of divorces it will be but a short time before the divorces will equal the marriages."

Of the 6,131 deaths in Vermont in 1907 from all causes one-half of them resulted from seven causes, as follows: Pneumonia, 682; organic heart disease, 581; tuberculosis, 463; apoplexy, 446; Bright's disease of kidneys, 353; cancer, 337; senile debility or old age, 226. One startling thing in the report is that there were practically as many deaths from whooping cough as from the three diseases, typhoid fever, measles and scarlet fever. During the year four persons have lived to be over 100 years.

The average age of life is 48 1/4 years. The centenarians were: Hayden Cass, Newark, 102 years, 5 months, 24 days; Percy H. Thomas, Hubbardston, 100 years, 11 months, 13 days; Tobey Rosenberg, Burlington, 103 years; Felix Thibault, St. Albans, 103 years.

Playmate of Sherman's.

Thomas B. Jones, superintendent of the Burlington Traction company, and James Schoolcraft Sherman, republican nominee for vice-president, were boys together in the little town of New Hartford, a few miles out of Utica, N. Y. Mr. Jones has pleasant recollections of Mr. Sherman as a youngster. The Sherman family resided in the town of New Hartford, and there was a donkey at the Sherman place that was used as common property by the boys of the neighborhood with the full consent of the owner.

"We used to have the best times with the Sherman boys," said Mr. Jones. "Mr. Sherman, for he was always called Jim, as he is today, was a jolly fun-loving boy who made friends everywhere. He attended one district school and another, but we were together a good deal and I have the pleasantest recollections of our early association."

Mr. Jones received a letter from his brother, C. O. Jones, a well known manufacturer of paper boxes in New Hartford, telling how he had received a telegram from Mr. Sherman at Chicago, directly after the ticket was nominated announcing the result.

Entertained in Boston.

Greene of St. Albans.

Railroad Taxes Paid.

With the exception of railroad taxes the total amount of all the railroad taxes for the current year, amounting to $237,500, have been paid into the state treasury. This is an increase of about $20,000 over the taxes of a year ago. The central Vermont railway pays in $50,000, the Rutland railway, $50,000, and the Montpelier & Wells River railway, $6,000. The Burlington & North Company pays the largest share, and tax into the state treasury, $80,000, this year being $3,886.06.

Irvine-Butchinson Wedding.
A pretty home wedding occurred Wednesday, June 24, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark B. Hutchinson, when their daughter, Alice Clark, was united in marriage to Eldon Coulter Irvine of Sherbrooke. Only the members of the bride's immediate family were present, and about a dozen invited guests from St. Johnsbury and Sherbrooke. The house was simply and tastefully decorated with ferns and white daisies. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. K. Fuller. The bride was beautifully gowned in white net over silk and carried bride roses. Her only attendant was her younger sister, Miss Bessie Hutchinson, who wore white over pink. Light refreshments were served after the wedding, and Mr. and Mrs. Irvine took the air line north amid the usual shower of rice and confetti. Mrs. Irvine wore a traveling gown of blue rajah pongee. Their presents were numerous and valuable. They will spend the month of July at Niagara, Toronto and with Mr. Irvine's relatives in Ontario, returning later in the summer to furnish their home at Sherbrooke, where Mr. Irvine is to be at the head of the city schools. Mrs. Irvine will be greatly missed here, where she has been a delightful member of social and musical circles. Heartly congratulations and good wishes are extended by a host of friends.
